Bill Would Bring Greater Exposure To Pressure Attempts

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Senate investigators today proposed new, tougher laws to curb what they called "pernicious" and "dangerous" lobbying practices. They also came out for modernizing the statutes on election financing.

Whether the legislation they urged will be enacted or even get very far in Congress this session is questionable.

Their projected "Legislative Activities Disclosure Act" and "Political Activities Disclosure Act" would rely heavily on the light of full publicity "to cure the evils and mischief found to exist" after a year's inquiry.

The investigation was conducted by a special committee of four Democrats and four Republicans, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.). The group reached complete agreement on a bill to bring about greater exposure of direct and indirect attempts to put pressure on Congress and influence legislation.

Secondary Aim
"A secondary aim," the committee said in a report to the Senate, "is the outright prohibition of certain pernicious practices."

It would become a felony, for example, to send spurious, forged telegrams or other communications to members of Congress—practices the committee said are reprehensible, dangerous and "pollute the stream of our legislative processes."

The committee members fell short of unanimity on legislation to update the law covering election campaign contributions and expenditures. This proposal would remove the ceiling on the amount that can be spent for presidential and vice-presidential campaigns, since for practical purposes there is none now. It would raise the spending limit on Senate and House elections.

By exempting $100 of campaign donations from income tax, it would attempt to encourage contributions from ordinary individuals and reduce candidates' reliance on financial help from the wealthy.

The committee split 4-4 and omitted from the elections bill any provision for applying it to primary campaigns—which in effect determine the general election winners in much of the South.

McClellan submitted the committee report to the Senate and introduced the new lobby bill. It goes before the Government Operations Committee, which McClellan also heads.

Called "Good Bill"
McClellan called the new elections measure "a good bill." But neither he nor anybody else stepped up immediately to drop it in the hopper. Some senators feel more stringent legislation is necessary.

The chairman told the Senate the special committee was turning back more than half the $350,000 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Arthur Miller Is Guilty
On Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Arthur Miller, playwright husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, was convicted today of contempt of Congress.

U.S. Dist. Judge Charles McLaughlin announced the verdict in a 15-page written opinion. McLaughlin had presided without a jury at Miller's six-day trial, which ended a week ago yesterday.

The indictment was based on Miller's refusal to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities the names of Communist writers with whom he attended five or six meetings in New York in 1947.

When he appeared before the committee last June, the 42-year-old playwright willingly answered all questions concerning himself. But he said his conscience would

Britain Explodes
2nd Nuclear Bomb
At Malden Atoll

Mightiest Of Series Is Fired

ABOARD HMS ALERT, With the British Atomic Task Force, May 31 (AP)—British nuclear chiefs fired the second and mightiest hydrogen bomb explosion of Britain's test series here in the Central Pacific today.

MISSING—Mike A. (Myron) Gilbert is reported missing behind the Iron Curtain in Hungary. He is one of two students who are said to have slipped over the Communist border while posing as "spies." (See story bottom of page.) (AP Photofax).

The powerful blast—believed to carry a punch equal to five million tons of TNT—took place high in the air near tiny Malden Atoll 400 miles south of Christmas Island.

A white hot flare, more brilliant than the sun, lit the sky and ocean for a hundred miles.

The May 15 blast, which made Britain the world's third H-bomb power was believed to have been of a smaller type of nuclear bomb than the one set off today. Russia and the United States are the other H-bomb powers.

A white-painted Valiant jet bomber dropped the four-ton bomb thousands of feet above the sea, then banked away sharply at 600 m.p.h. with only 90 seconds to escape the blinding flash and the all-destroying fireball searing the ocean's surface.

Observers aboard the host of naval vessels 35 miles away were warned to turn their backs on the fireball or risk damage to their sight.

For a dozen hours before the explosion, search planes combed the danger area to make sure no ships wandered into the test zone.

The original Hiroshima A-bomb had the explosive equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT. A member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said earlier this month that the United States now has nuclear weapons with the equivalent of 20 million tons of TNT.

The Russians are said to claim an H-bomb so big they dare not explode it.

Baghdad Pact
Nations Plan To Form Military

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—The five Baghdad Pact nations will consider plans for creating a military organization at a meeting in Karachi next week, it was disclosed today.

Informed diplomats said one plan being considered would set up a military staff headquarters and make the 38-year-old Shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, the supreme commander.

The Ministerial Council of the alliance, meeting next Monday, also formally will invite the United States to join its Military Committee. The United States already has announced it would become a committee member, and is expected to have senior U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force officers present at the military committee meeting later in June.

The basic purpose of giving the alliance some form of military organization arises from the desire to put teeth into it.

Members of the pact are Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd is leaving tomorrow to attend the first meeting of the Ministerial Council to be held since the British-French invasion of Egypt last November.

Coty Asks All
People To Shun
Algeria Rebels

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—President Rene Coty of France tonight called on all civilized peoples to break contact with those who support the rebellion in Algeria.

He spoke against a background of government crisis at home and new and bloody outbreaks in North Africa.

In a hurriedly scheduled and unprecedented midnight broadcast to the French people and the world, the President said:

"I ask all civilized peoples if the time has not come to signify that they refuse to listen to the killers and the agents of this horrible terrorism which tramples all the laws of God and man."

Pointing to the massacre of Melouza in which more than 300 Algerians were reported slaughtered by rival Algerian nationalists, the President said:

"These abominations are not only the deed of a few bandits. The murderers continue to execute orders from their leaders who still yesterday over a foreign radio claimed the glory and honor of having assassinated in Paris one more Moslem guilty of loving France—as they have already assassinated 5,000 defenseless Moslems, men and women, aged and children."

He was referring to the assassination of Ali Chekkal, former president of the defunct Algerian Assembly, as he was leaving a soccer match City also attended in Paris Sunday. Chekkal was elected to the Assembly, a largely advisory body, in 1948 on a platform advocating "French-Moslem union."

At the Pentagon in Washington, the Air Force confirmed that the Atlas test would be made in deep-secrecy.

India Begins
U.S. Repayment

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—India today turned over to the United States 93 tons of silver bullion, worth more than three million dollars in repayment of lend-lease.

The shipment, arriving Wednesday at Jersey City, N. J., aboard the American liner President Taylor, was the first instalment in the repayment of 1,500 tons worth about 50 million dollars.

The silver bars were kept aboard the ship until today when they were presented formally to American officials for transfer by truck to a U.S. government depository at West Point, N.Y.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 31 (AP)—Brown University's assessment of the lives and fortunes of its silver anniversary class of 1932 brought back the answer from one man that he had become a millionaire because he married a girl with a million dollars.

Army Guided Missile Is Fired In Fla.

Defense Department
Disagrees That USSR
Should See Tests

COCOA, Fla., May 31 (AP)—A guided missile believed to be the Army's Jupiter was fired about 1:15 p.m. today from the closely guarded Air Force missile test center on Cape Canaveral east of here.

A number of civilians were lined up along State Road 401 leading to the Cape at the time the missile blasted off. There had been reports that the Atlas, the first Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile, would be fired from the base today.

Observers said the missile seemed to hover at treetop height about 15 seconds, then picked up power and was visible for about 30 seconds before it disappeared into the sky. Its roar could be heard for more than two minutes.

Due To Arrive

Dr. Werner von Braun, the Army missile expert, was reported due to arrive at the test center today from the Redstone Arsenal in Alabama.

The Orlando Sentinel said it had received reliable information that the firing of the Atlas has been postponed until next Wednesday or Friday.

Meanwhile, it appeared the Defense Department doesn't join with Rep. Patterson (R-Conn.) in the hope that Russian observers will have an opportunity to see the Atlas missile in flight.

Patterson, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday that the Atlas, the first Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile, would be fired from the Air Force missile test center on Florida's Cape Canaveral.

"If the test is successful, he added, there will be no secret about the fact that America has developed a truly intercontinental missile, and I hope that Russian observers will have an opportunity to see the great rocket in full flight."

Won't Know If It Is Atlas

On the other hand, the Defense Department doesn't want the Russians — or anybody else — to know when or if the missile is fired.

When the Atlas blasts off, a lot of people in this heavily populated vicinity will hear it, but they won't know if it is the Atlas.

"Several kinds of missiles are fired from Cape Canaveral and it takes a sharp eye to see them before they are out of sight. By the time a Cocoa resident turns his head toward the Cape after hearing the muffled roar of the missile taking off, there's nothing to see but a wisp of vapor across the sky."

It could have been the Atlas, the Jupiter, the Snark or one of several other missiles with which the various branches of the armed services are experimenting.

After Patterson's announcement, the Associated Press asked Lt. Col. Sid Spear, public information officer at the missile center, whether there would be a confirming announcement if the Atlas is fired. Spear said there would be no official statements either before or after a firing.

At the Pentagon in Washington, the Air Force confirmed that the Atlas test would be made in deep-secrecy.

APs Replace
Morocco Guards

RABAT, Morocco, May 31 (AP)—Two hundred Moroccan guards have been replaced by American Air Police reinforcements in a drastic security drive to prevent thieving at the Nouasseur base, official sources here said today.

The native guards were used to patrol the 18-mile perimeter fence at the mammoth Air Force supply depot near Casablanca. Their replacement became necessary because of large-scale thefts of military equipment.

Twenty-two vehicles, some of them jeeps fitted with two-way radio, and some ammunition are missing from the base by official account. But unofficial reports from French sources say up to 70 vehicles have been stolen, plus 30 radios, machineguns and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Moroccan and American authorities refuse to comment on these unofficial reports, which threaten to jeopardize current talks between the two governments about a new base agreement.

Rescued Woman
Begins Trip To Duluth Home

RAWLINS, Wyo., May 31 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Lemasurrier, 46, described as "pretty well oriented" after a 19-day ordeal atop a storm-battered Wyoming mountain, started by ambulance today toward her Duluth, Minn., home.

Mrs. Lemasurrier, resting comfortably on a stretcher, began a 142-mile motor trip to Casper, Wyo., where she will be transferred to a Minnesota Air National Guard C47 plane for the flight to Duluth.

Her homeward journey started a couple of hours after rescuers brought the body of her husband down from Ferris Mountain, 60 miles north of here, where their light plane crashed May 11.

Dr. Donald J. Van Ruyzen of Duluth, the family physician, said, "I feel it's perfectly safe to move her to Duluth by ambulance and plane. She's pretty well oriented."

For 19 days Mrs. Lemasurrier, 120-pound mother of three, waited in chilling snow and rain storms for rescue. Her husband, Dalton, 47, Duluth, Minn., television and radio executive, lived for several days—the exact number she could not recall.

Doctors said he died from a slow brain hemorrhage resulting from a skull fracture.

Mrs. Lemasurrier said they shared three pieces of candy—their only food—and a bottle of 150 vitamin pills. She was warmly dressed in a heavy blouse and sweater and bundled herself in other clothing.

Dr. Robert D. Paul, Rawlins physician, credited Mrs. Lemasurrier's survival to her "remarkable constitution." She melted snow for drinking, an important factor in maintaining her condition, Dr. Paul said.

Nighttime temperatures were around 20 degrees. She had no fire.

She apparently suffered no injuries in the crash. She was treated at Carbon County Hospital here, 60 miles south of the crash scene, for frostbite, shock, sunburn, exposure and malnutrition.

The Lemasurrier's twin-engine Beechcraft smashed into 9,500-foot Ferris Mountain during a heavy overcast. The gasoline tank exploded but a flash rainstorm put out the fire. The couple was flying back to Duluth after a visit to Pasadena, Calif., where a son, Donald, 23, resides.

Powell Advocates
Business Boycott

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) suggested today that Alabama Negroes consider a possible boycott of businesses connected with jurors who acquitted two white men of bombing a Negro church.

Powell, a Negro, represents the Harlem district.

"The Negro people of Alabama should seriously consider some form of passive resistance directed or, indirectly connected," he said.

Iran Village Attacked

TEHRAN, Iran, May 31 (AP)—Bandit leader Dadshah, alleged killer of three Americans in southeast Iran in March, has attacked and burned down an Iranian village and killed two villagers, it was learned here today.

Rebels Massacre
300 Algeria Men

ALGIERS, Algeria, May 31 (AP)—Barefooted Moslem women staggered out of the mountains today and told how vengeful nationalist rebels massacred virtually all of the men and older boys in their mud hut village 80 miles southeast of Algiers.

French officials said the rebels killed 302 of their fellow Moslems in the worst incident of its kind in modern-day Algeria. Unofficial estimates in the French and Algerian press said the toll might reach 500.

The French reported 35 others mutilated and slain in Moslem-against-Moslem violence in other areas of Algeria.

News of the massacre stirred angry reaction in the French press and seemed certain to intensify French measures to subdue the nationalist revolt in Algeria, now 2½ years old.

French military forces, with apparent support of the horrified native population, launched a vast counteroperation by helicopter, plane and armored troops to hunt down the slayers.

The motive behind the village massacre was not clear. The French said it might constitute another bloody chapter in the rivalry between two big Algerian nationalist groups — the Algerian Nationalist Movement (MNA) and the National Liberation Front (FLN). Some said the rebels struck as a warning to the Algerian population to have nothing to do with the French.

Officers of a French garrison in the area said the slayers arrived recently in Algeria from Tunisia. Algerian nationalists in that neighboring country blamed the massacre on the French.

French-Tunisian relations, already strained, worsened with word of a clash between French troops and members of the Tunisian National Guard. The clash occurred on Tunisian territory, where some French troops remain despite independence granted the former French possession.

First reports said several were killed and wounded near Souk-el-Arba, site of a camp for Algerian refugees.

The Tunisian secretary of state for information, Bechir Ben Yahmed, said later in Tunis that three Tunisian soldiers were killed and five other persons, including two Tunisian officials, were wounded. He said there also were casualties on the French side and among Algerian refugees.

The scene of the massacre was the village of La Melouza, in barren mountain country southeast of Algiers and more than 200 miles from the Tunisian border. It took place late Tuesday night and in the early hours of Wednesday.

French officials said they received this account from survivors.

On the previous night rebels slipped into the village and executed five men suspected of having pro-French sympathies. The villagers protested.

On the following night the rebels returned, operating in bands of from 10 to 12.

They singled out all the men and boys over 15 and killed them with gunfire, knives and hatchets.

Torrential rains borne on heavy winds punished southwest Texas and a flash flood sent 18 inches of water through the town of Bracketville, Uvalde County, midway between San Antonio and Del Rio, Tex., was virtually inundated during a storm Thursday night.

Thunderstorm activity increased in north-central Texas during the afternoon. Parts of eastern Colorado had hailstorms.

The Weather Bureau attributed the stormy weather to moist, heavy air being carried northward from the Gulf of Mexico and clashing with cool, dry Canadian air spilling across the northern plains and Upper Mississippi Valley.

Hit Southwest

A widespread weather disturbance moved up from the southwest toward the Great Lakes region Friday, spawning windstorms and heavy rain.

The Weather Bureau said funnel clouds were reported in Minnesota, Kansas, Colorado, Iowa and Texas. There was a report of an unconfirmed tornado in south-central Kansas.

Officials at the U. S. Embassy in Vienna said they were trying to substantiate the report that the two youths had vanished so they could ask the U. The U. S. consul at the legation here said, however, that he had not received any instructions to inquire about the youths.

Decision May Lose Colony
Of Hong Kong

Senate Leaders Say
Move Accomplished
Fact In Acceptance

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Senatorial leaders signaled today reluctant acceptance, as an accomplished fact, of Britain's decision to step up its trade with Communist China.

Republican Leader Knowland of California told the Senate this decision may eventually topple the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong into the hands of a strengthened China.

But Knowland, chief congressional defender of Nationalist China and critic of the mainland regime, spoke of Britain's course in tones more in sorrow than in anger.

It was evident that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, accepted the British decision as one that might be questioned but not easily controverted.

Johnson Declines Comment

Johnson declined public comment. But it was understood he and other leaders had been informed shortly after the March Bermuda conference of British intentions to relax the embargo against Red China.

Some State Department officials had feared that an explosion in Congress might strain American relations with Britain. Over U.S. objections, Britain announced yesterday a decision to lower its China trade barriers to the level maintained with Soviet Russia and her European satellites.

The United States embargoes all shipments to Red China and had persuaded free world allies to supply only so-called "soft" consumer goods to the Communist regime.

Britain's action will clear more than 200 items for shipment to Red China and Knowland told his colleagues these "must be considered strategic by any rule of reason."

The British said they would continue their ban on shipment of strategic, or war-making goods.

Is Calculated Risk

"Locomotives, machine tools, trucks, perhaps entire rubber plants may some day in the not-too-distant future strengthen Communist China to the point where it can feel it takes risk the responsibility of taking over the Crown Colony of Hong Kong," Knowland said.

"This is a calculated risk for which Her Majesty's ministers must alone bear the responsibility."

Knowland said the United States might "question the wisdom" of the recent British decision to reduce its military manpower but he said that as "good and stout allies, we understand some of the economic reasons behind their action."

"But it is far more difficult to understand an action which can only strengthen our common enemies, both in Asia and Europe," he said.

Two American Students
Are Missing In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 31 (AP)—Two American students were reported here today to have crossed into Communist Hungary posing facetiously as "spies" to create excitement.

The Hungarian Foreign Ministry said tonight it had no information about them, and their whereabouts remained a mystery. The two South Carolina students, Mike A. Gilbert of Walterboro, and Warren W. Hair of North Augusta, both 20, were said to have entered Hungary from Austria on Sunday.

An Australian air acquaintance Janice de Pedro, who accompanied them on part of a tour of Europe, made a report of their escape at Einstdt, Austria, when they failed to return.

Marked Drop Noted In Highway Deaths On Memorial Day

By The Associated Press

Safety experts voiced high praise yesterday for the nation's drivers and traffic officers following a marked drop in highway deaths before, during and after Memorial Day.

"Let's keep it up over the weekend and from there on in," pleaded Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

The 30-hour period between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday saw a total of only 164 lives lost — 94 traffic fatalities, 37 drownings and 33 deaths in other tragedies related to Memorial Day activities. The NSC had predicted 120 car deaths during the time.

With many persons throughout the country extending the holiday to the weekend, casualties continued to mount but the increase was slow.

As of 2 p.m. yesterday the total had reached only 196—112 in traffic, 47 drownings and 37 from other causes.

"Despite the inevitable surge of traffic on a holiday, the Memorial Day toll ran only slightly ahead of the toll for a nonholiday period of the same number of hours, same day, at this time of the year," Dearborn said.

"It also ran well below our estimate of 120 deaths. The drivers deserve a pat on the back for this evidence of increased care and courtesy on the highway. So do the traffic enforcement agencies and officers for their activities."

The normal death count for a nonholiday Thursday at this time of the year is 75, the NSC said. In a survey made by The Associated Press two weeks ago, covering 40 hours between 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, through midnight Thursday, May 16, there were 85 traffic deaths.

Last year, when Memorial Day came on a Wednesday, there were 109 traffic fatalities, 32 drownings and 33 miscellaneous deaths during the same 30-hour time. The NSC traffic estimate then was 110.

Italy Consul's Runaway Son Is Unrepentant

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—All was diplomacy today in the home of Italy's consul general as runaway Vittorio (Toto) Barattieri, 14, received a polite welcome home.

Vittorio, outwardly, however, was unrepentant over his 44-day stay in New York.

But, said his father, Count Ludovico Barattieri, "Toto is crestfallen over failing to solve the problem of supporting himself."

The youth left home with about $120. He had $1.04 when he was stopped Wednesday in New York's garment district by FBI agents.

Barattieri, Italian consul general, held a news conference at which Chicago police officials earlier criticized by the father as having bungled the search, were mollified, and Vittorio was given the floor.

Police Capt. Thomas J. McLaughlin and William O'Brien told the count that efforts to run down leads on Vittorio had cost an estimated $70,000, which some 80 officers assigned to the case at various times.

McLaughlin also recalled that an attempt to extort $5,000 from the Barattieris in connection with their son's absence was quickly foiled, with the arrest of the alleged extortionist.

Barattieri, who provided champagne for all present, said that "the police did a fine job."

First, the father gave an account of his son's adventures, stressing that the youth had left the family in a search of "self-confidence."

The youth related that he ran away partly because of difficulties at Loyola Academy, where he found geometry troublesome while excelling in other subjects.

States' Shares For Schools Made Public

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The House Education Committee made public today tentative allotments which the states would receive under the proposed school construction bill providing a five-year 1½ billion dollar program of federal aid.

Half the 300 million dollars a year authorized by the committee's bill would be allotted on the basis of school age population between the ages of 5 and 17 inclusive. The remaining half would be allotted on the basis of relative average state income for each child of school age and school-age population.

The share of each state may be modified if the state falls below the national average, both in the proportion of its income spent for public education and the amount spent per public schoolchild. The total amount of such reductions would then be divided up proportionately among the other states.

The following table gives, by states, the amount each would receive yearly on the basis of: 1. school age population; 2. the amount each would receive on the basis of need; and 3. the total (but it does not reflect any changes which may be made on the basis of the effort each state makes):

Delaware 313,000; 139,000 and 45,000.
Maryland 2,326,000; 1,943,000 and 2,269,000.
Tennessee 3,440,000; 5,087,000 and 8,527,000.
Virginia 3,453,000; 4,305,000 and 7,758,000.
West Virginia 2,155,000; 3,184,000 and 5,339,000.
District of Columbia 602,000; 662,000 and 1,264,000.

Bandit Escapes With $1,309

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—A masked bandit got $1,309 for 10 seconds work today.

He slipped into the John O. White Roofing and Sheet Metal Co. while an official was preparing the payroll, snatched up a handful of bills and fled.

William J. Manley, secretary-treasurer of the company, said he was sitting at a desk when an arm reached over his shoulder and grabbed the money.

Manley struck at the arm and turned to face a Negro armed with a revolver and wearing a white rag over his face. The bandit bolted through a door and disappeared.

Lobby Probe

It received for expenses. In addition, he said, the Treasury stands to collect around a million dollars extra in taxes because the committee reported finding that oil companies had deducted as business expenses contributions to an organization backing legislation to remove direct federal controls from the natural gas industry.

The committee got a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service that these contributions were not deductible.

The new lobbying bill, which doesn't mention the word "lobbying," would boost from a $5,000 fine and a year in jail to $10,000 and a year the maximum penalties for failure to register or report money received and spent to try to influence legislation. This would apply both to the "legislative agent" and his employer.

Better Job-Finding Plan For Parolees Advocated

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—An expanded job-finding program for prospective parolees of the Maryland Reformatory for Males was one of eight recommendations made today to the Commission on Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency.

The commission's employment committee also recommended development of a coordinated program for the testing, counseling and development of sound vocational plans for the placement of youngsters who drop out of school.

Development of a public education program directed at elimination of "unrealistic" hiring specifications which the committee feels unduly limit job opportunities.

Further study of the job problem was faced by youngsters returning from training schools.

The three-day conference is a follow up of last spring's two-day study meeting at College Park. At that session, 14 committees began studies of various areas of delinquency.

The recommendations of those study groups are being made at this meeting and the commission will then present its views and suggestions on reducing and preventing juvenile delinquency to the governor and the public.

Eight Seek Lions Posts

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 31 (AP)—Eight men were in the running today for five governorship posts of Lions International, Multiple District 22, covering Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Candidates in three of the five districts are unopposed for the top office but three men are in the field in District 22-B on Maryland's Eastern Shore and two men in District 22-C covering Southern Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Elections will be held on the final day of the Multiple District's 35th annual convention tomorrow. Seeking the District 22-B post are Charles S. Bilbrough, Greensboro, Md.; Dr. A. S. David, Easton, Md.; and Robert F. Irwin, Millington, Md.

The two candidates in District 22-C are Harold F. Gates, Takoma Park, Md.; and William J. Smith, Washington, D. C.

The multiple district claims about 12,000 members in 218 clubs.

Tiny Baby Born Prematurely, Lives

HILO, T.H., May 31 (AP)—A 1-pound, 3½-ounce baby — "just about big enough to nestle on a baseball glove," one doctor said — was clinging to life today after being born three months prematurely Wednesday.

The baby is receiving oxygen in a heated incubator.

The hospital declined to release the names of the parents who live on this island of Hawaii, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

Lone Gunman Gets $12,829 In Bank Holdup

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—A lone gunman who took $12,829 from a suburban southwest Baltimore branch bank today apparently escaped the immediate vicinity.

A police manhunt, involving more than 50 policemen and 8 police dogs, was called off after several hours' search in the area where the holdup man was last seen fleeing on foot.

The man, described as about 50, entered the Westport Bank of the Union Trust Co. shortly before 10 a.m. and shouted:

"All right. Everyone stand facing the wall."

Mrs. Charlotte Hubert, one of five women tellers in the bank at the time, dropped to the floor in a dead faint. Another teller, Beatrice Lomax, managed to trip the burglar alarm before moving back against the wall at the bandit's command.

While the other three tellers, Manager C. William Reinke and a lone customer complied with the bandit's instructions, he climbed over a wooden counter and grabbed the cash teller Jean Sulewski had been given less than an hour earlier when the bank opened.

He took money only from the one position, before reclimbing the counter and leaving the bank.

Reinke told police he followed the gunman on foot as he ran to a spur of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which runs along the Baltimore - Washington Expressway and under a bridge where he lost him in a woods.

An 11-year-old boy under the bridge picking berries told police of seeing a man running along the tracks. It was that tip from John Henry Gillian, a sixth grader who lives nearby, that brought the concentration of searchers.

The youngster said he saw the man drop a gray bag, stop to pick it up, then stumble on down the tracks.

"It looked like he didn't know what to do," the Negro boy told police. "I thought he was trying to catch a train into the city, but he missed it."

Unaware at the time of the bank holdup, the youngster said he began to feel something was wrong when he heard police car sirens. He ran back to the highway, flagged down a motorcycle patrolman and told his story.

Bathing Suits Are Said Athletic

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 31 (AP)—Gerald A. Gleeson, state secretary of revenue, said today he was shocked by the bathing suit situation in Pennsylvania.

The official hastened to say he wasn't dismayed over the brevity of bathing attire. He was upset by the fact the state three per cent sales tax was not being paid on bathing suits.

Gleeson thereupon handed down an official ruling:

Bathing suits are athletic equipment, Bikini or not, and therefore are subject to the state levy.

Judge Withholds Sentencing In Morals Case Here

Fourteen of 16 young men charged with statutory rape in connection with assaults on two 13-year-old Mt. Savage Road girls in recent months, entered pleas of guilty to the charges when brought before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday in Circuit Court.

The cases against the other two, Joseph John Riley, 18, of Corriganville and Wilbert Gordon Lavin, 23, of Mt. Savage, were continued until next week when their attorney will be available.

Judge Harris withheld sentencing the 14 men until he can have a check made of their backgrounds by David M. Steele, probation officer. He also remanded the men to the county jail pending disposition of their cases. The group had been out under bond since their arrest several weeks ago.

Judge Harris reminded the men that the charge of statutory rape is one of the most serious ones which can be made. He told them that under the penalty provided for such a criminal offense on a girl under 14 years of age the sentence could be the death penalty.

After hearing the facts in each of the sordid incidents, Judge Harris asked the two girls to come forward. The girls were questioned by the jurist concerning their schooling, church attendance and related matters. Judge Harris told them that they had caused much trouble to many families by their actions and were themselves in trouble.

The fathers of the two girls, who are brothers, were next questioned. The father of one girl said he was unaware of her actions in connection with the young men but had trouble with her for sneaking out of the house late at night and also for leaving Sunday School before services were over. He said he tried everything he could think of to make her behave, but she was incorrigible.

The father of the other girl said he also had tried to reason with his daughter and the entire mess was discovered by him one night when two of the accused caused a disturbance in a car near his home. His daughter was with the two men at the time. The father called police and subsequent investigation involved more and more men and also four juveniles.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for the 14 men and in every case he said the girls had accosted the defendants and made suggestive remarks which led to the affairs. Most of the incidents took place in isolated spots such as the old ball field near Mt. Savage and a stone quarry on the Cash Valley Road.

In one case the incident took place in a car parked on Bedford Street, early one morning, just across from City Hall Plaza from police headquarters.

The trials attracted many spectators from the Corriganville and Mt. Savage sections. The 14 men are Richard Edward Smith, 24, Bedford Street; William Donald Crosten, 19; Paul Wayne Fettes, 20; Samuel Lee Lepley, 18; Gary Luther Fuller, 20; Charles Edward Jenkins, 18; Raymond C. Fuller, 18; all of the Corriganville section.

Robert Clayton Blank, 19, of Mt. Savage; Edgar William Smith, 25, Bedford Street; Thomas Carl Hott, 28, Bowman's addition; Benjamin Imes, Jr., 22, Flintstone; Charles Hunter Deans, 24, Barreville; William Winner, 21, Frostburg and Robert William Cross, 20, Bedford Road.

The Methodist Men's Club of First Methodist Church will hold an outdoor meeting and barbeque today at 6:30 p. m. at the new church lot in the 1700-block of Frederick Street.

Church Club To Hold Meeting Today

William A. Deremer, president, said a brief business meeting will be followed by the barbeque. A program, which will include musical entertainment, will be presented by the high school graduates of the church, Deremer said.

Mt. Savage Constable Refutes Charges

Constable Andrew Lennox of Mt. Savage appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to refute a charge by a Mt. Savage resident that he had refused to serve a warrant.

Lennox said he served two summons in connection with a matter brought up by Delbert Martin but he was not asked to serve a warrant. Martin had complained to the commissioners in the matter last Tuesday. Some pipe had been taken from the old Mt. Savage School building, which Martin later bought, and this resulted in the charges by Martin.

Riding Club To Meet

The Potomac Valley Riding Club will meet today at 8 p. m. at Woodland Inn, near Short Gap.

COMRADES

Childhood is a brief span in the bridge of life. Yet it is during the early years that we lay the foundation for all that is to come.

Church School is over, and Eileen and Johnny linger on the church steps, talking about the lessons they've learned this morning. They both are excited because, under their teacher's guidance, the stories of the Bible are beginning to come alive for them.

We're not going to predict a "happy ever after" ending. We're not going to say that having met in Church School, Eileen and Johnny will go on seeing each other in church each week and that ultimately they'll grow up, fall in love, and get married. (Though, who knows? Maybe they will at that!)

But we are saying—and deeply believing—that through Church School these children and thousands upon thousands of other children are receiving religious education, an ever-expanding lesson in good fellowship, wisdom, kindness, and tolerance.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hardy County Polio Chapter Gets Reports

Bean Re-Elected Unit President

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Ralph J. Bean was reelected president of the Hardy County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting held Wednesday night at Hotel McNeill. Other officers reelected are Mrs. R. E. Fisher, secretary and John A. Mathias, treasurer. Ted Burns was named chairman of the March of Dimes drive for the coming year.

Burns was presented with a framed certificate from the Foundation by Don Jenkins, state chairman for the Foundation and Burns also received an electric coffemaker from Landers, Franz and Clark for his outstanding work in keeping Hardy county an honor county in the annual March of Dimes Drives.

The Hardy County Chapter voted to supply free polio vaccine, within the limits of the budget, to all persons in the 20 to 40 age group, at the clinics held in the county. Until this action, free vaccine has been available only to those under 20 years old, the school children and to expectant mothers.

Jenkins reported to members of the Hardy County Chapter of the Foundation that the dread crippling disease could now be controlled through the use of the Salk vaccine. Jenkins said it had taken 19 years and $25 million to do the job and that today's vaccine is more potent than ever and is safe to use. He said there were 730,701 youngsters in West Virginia who should have shots and that 262,000 had received at least one shot. In Hardy County there are 3,769 eligible to receive the free vaccine and 1,801 have received it.

Jenkins emphasized that polio is completely eliminated in this country but that to do so the vaccine must be in the arm of every person under 40 years of age.

The Clermont Has A Birthday

The 150th anniversary of the first really successful steamboat in the United States is to be marked by a special boat trip on the Hudson River between New York and Albany today. The date is a little anticipatory, for it was on August 17, 1807 that Robert Fulton's Clermont first negotiated the river between those two cities.

Pennsylvania-born Fulton, gunsmith, painter, mechanical inventor, had gone to England in 1786 and had spent 20 years there. He became identified with the construction of canals and canal boats, developed underwater torpedoes and a submarine, and in Paris fell in with the U. S. minister to France, Robert R. Livingston.

Livingston had managed to get from the New York legislature a monopoly to navigate the waters of the state by boats propelled by steam. The monopoly was renewed each time it lapsed, and Livingston and Fulton concluded a partnership by which the former furnished the capital, the latter the design for a steamboat.

Fulton ordered from the Birmingham (England) firm of Boulton and Watt a steam engine which he found waiting for him in New York when he landed there in December, 1806. The boat for the engine was built by Charles Brown, New York shipbuilder, and the Clermont chugged from New York to Albany and back at an average speed of almost five miles an hour.

One story of the time was of a merchant on the shore off which the Clermont lay predicting loudly, "He'll never make that thing go, never," only to predict, after it had got under way, "Gad, gentlemen, he'll never be able to stop her, never." Fulton was far from being the first man to make a boat operate by steam; what he did first was to make the operation regular and profitable.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Taipeh Riots

Riots are not unusual in China. They are, in fact, traditional. During the nearly 14 years that I lived in that country, I witnessed many riots and I heard of many that I did not witness. The Chinese, an easily excited, volatile people, readily influenced by those who can read and write and therefore are superior, riot as a means of self-expression in public matters. The Taipeh riots let off steam which has been building up for a long time, but there had to be inspiration and direction. No such riot is ever spontaneous.

The two most serious riots that I lived through were in 1919 and 1925. The 1919 riots were known as the Students Movement and arose out of a decision by students in all schools that China should not sign the Paris Treaty because of the Shantung clauses which restored to Japan rights which Japan had wrested from Germany. The students went on strike, first in Peking and then in Shanghai and within 48 hours throughout the country. There was no Russian or Communist inspiration at this time. It was strongly nationalistic.

At first, people laughed at the youngsters. But they did not laugh long because very soon every store, factory, means of transportation closed down. Even the prostitutes went on strike. The police were helpless because they could not shoot children or put a city in jail. I saw a Chinese student cut off a part of his finger and write a patriotic slogan on a wall in his own blood.

In 1925, the riots were Communist-inspired. They started in Shanghai and the leader was Li Lih-san who became one of the big figures in the Communist Revolution in China. They started as a labor strike. A Sikh policeman, employed by the Shanghai Municipal Council, shot at Chinese employees of a Japanese cotton mill. Nobody wanted to know what was right or wrong. There was rioting. All foreigners were regarded as evil. This particular riot developed into the kick-off for the Communist Revolution which brought Chiang Kai-shek to power (two years later, he broke with them). It was excellently organized and all those charged with the responsibility for law and order were caught off base.

From my experience with Chinese riots I would say that the anti-American riot in Taipeh was inspired and organized by the Communist government in Peking. The object, of course, was aimed at the repudiation of Chiang Kai-shek's administration of Formosa and it was timed to coincide with Senator Warren Magnuson's provocation of a debate over doing business with Red China. From Peking's standpoint the timing was brilliant; from Chiang's, it was disastrous. From the American standpoint, it has complicated our diplomacy.

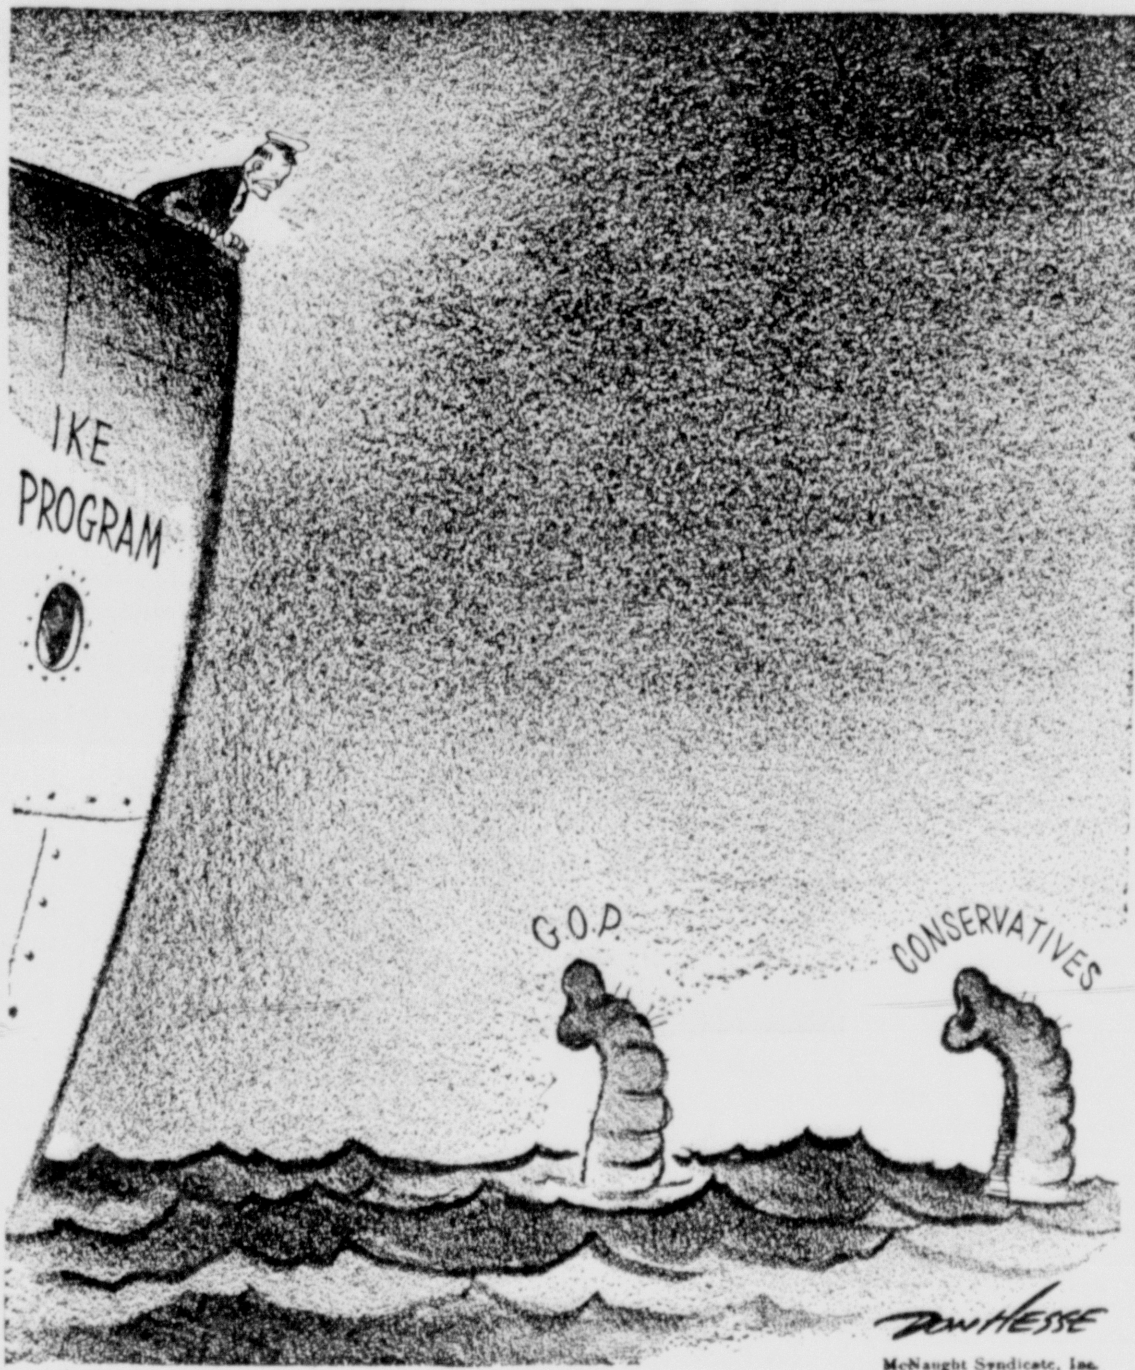

It is not correct to blame the CIA for its lack of knowledge that a riot was to take place in Taipeh. Chinese riots are like firecrackers. Of course, somebody has to put a light to a fire-cracker before it explodes, and there is always a punk to start a riot. The Boxer Rebellion started over the rumor that foreigners like to eat the eyes of Chinese children—that this dish is particularly delectable to missionaries. It does not matter whether the slogans are reasonable or unreasonable; what does matter is that someone should be around to stir things up. And there always is with Communists near at hand.

The Taipeh riot started because an American soldier shot what he assumed was "a Peeping Tom." The likelihood is that the Chinese did have a look into the soldier's window. That, too, is not unusual, as all human beings enjoy the bizarre, and Chinese of the lower classes do not regard nudity as a sin. So, the soldier shot him and somebody must have been around to start a rumor that American soldiers were about to shoot everybody. It was like the slogan, "The Redcoats are coming." Some run away; some burn down a building. Maybe the buildings were burned down by Peking agents.

Chiang Kai-shek's son, Chiang Ching-kuo, is responsible for security in Formosa. His father should demand that all Communists be shipped to the mainland forthwith or decapitated or someone else should do the job of maintaining security. There may not be too many second chances for Chiang Ching-kuo or for Formosa. Americans do not need to take this sort of thing from any country.

Submarines!

Among The Black Tents Of The Shammar

By Joseph Alsop

HATRA, Iraq
In the mud-plastered desert police station, the atmosphere is rich with Bedouin jubilation.

In their young days, forty years ago, the wiry, hawk faced old men sipping tea at the police officer's desk knew a very different sort of joy of victory. Then their eyes shone, then they exchanged congratulations, because with sword and spear, in wild night combat amongst the black tents, the men of the Shammar had gloriously defeated raiders from the great rival desert tribe, the Aneizah.

But now the defeated raiders are a sharp Mosul lawyer and his still sharper business partner, who can still be seen fleeing across the desert in a baby blue American sedan. Sheikh Turki, leader of the Frit (the name means "devil") clan of the Shammar, sums up the victory briskly and neatly:

"They tried to steal our land—10,000 dunams of land good for wheat. They wished to grow their wheat there with their tractors and their combines. But now it will be our wheat that grows there, and if we are wise, the tractors and combines will be ours as well."

Sheikh Turki looks for assent to his leader, the chief of all the Shammar, Sheikh Achmed Ajil Al-Yawar. Sheikh Achmed smiles in answer. And well he might, for he was himself the bold pioneer of the mechanized dry-farming of wheat and barley that is now beginning to transform the life of his people. Outwardly, you might suppose that nothing has altered. Even Sheikh Achmed the master of one of the largest and most profitable mechanized farming operations in the modern world, but he still wears the long robe, the fold embroidered mantle and the white headcloth of the desert. As befits the leader of a thousand households, with 20,000 camels and a 100,000 sheep, Sheikh Turki has his own armed guard—a handsome young tribesman with flashing eyes who wears his cartridge bandolier and carries his rifle with warlike pride.

But when the legal conference in the police station at last breaks up, Sheikh Turki's guard also proves to be the proud driver of Sheikh Turki's pickup truck. Sheikh Achmed takes the wheel of the American automobile he reserves for desert use—he has a new Rolls Royce in Baghdad. There is no racing dromedary anywhere in sight when the party sets off for the next rendezvous, at the camp of another Shammar clan leader, Sheikh Dhafer El-Mutrakh.

For the reflective man, even the long hot, dusty ride across the desert is a strange experience. Only six years ago, all this Northern Iraq desert had never felt the plough. At this spring season, a limitless green-brown carpet, it was all sparse grass richly embroidered with the scarlet of poppies, the yellow of buttercups and the blue and white and silver of other flowers.

Here, the Shammar cursed gazelle and sent their hawks after bustard.

But now, from half the desert, the tractor-drawn plough has banished the old desert life. In their ripening fields of wheat and barley, the combine operators from Mosul who work on shares with the Bedouin, are now bringing in the harvest, while their desert partners anxiously watch the work and check the share-out.

Once again, at Sheikh Dhafer's camp, one recaptures a sense of changelessness; for here the flocks and herds are all round about the thick cluster of black tents. As is fitting, the dark goat hair strips of Sheikh Dhafer's tent shade a space both long and wide, in which scores of Bedouin men sit cross legged on the carpets spread in a long rectangle around the coffee hearth scooped in the dusty earth.

Sheikh Achmed is greeted with a curious mixture of respect and familiarity; for is he not both the chosen leader of all the Shammar and a member of the Shammar family as well? The coffee server goes around, offering his little cups of the bitter refreshing coffee of the desert Arabs.

Sheikh Dhafer's father, the aged, white bearded but vigorous Sheikh Muhammad, celebrates the past. All listen while he tells the tale of stratagem and ambush

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Popular caper in the witness corral is taking the fifth. It's a memory course in forgetfulness.

One witness took the fifth one hundred and sixty-seven times from a crouching start. There wasn't a thing that ever happened that didn't tar this fellow with bituminous details.

The shape of things to come has broadened across the withers. It's time to take in the amendments and let out the constitution a bit.

The fifth codicil to the will of the people protects the guilty from the innocent. When the founding fathers okayed it they must have been wearing rock-lined toupees.

Nobody takes the sixth which shills for a speedy trial, snappy decisions, liberal fixes, short hauls and dry lots, equal representation on the jury, rubber bars in cells and refunds on bottles.

The fifth entitles you to clam up like a shore dinner, insist the cat has your tongue and deny you lead the hit parade of wire taps. That marginal notation on a picnic plate is as convenient as a side-door in a saloon.

Taking the fifth is a gag in intermittent jurisprudence. Expert witnesses now make that point with three-two or four-ace. They can throw 'em over a transom and call 'em in the next room.

Eisenhower's White House Budget Far Bigger Than Harry Truman's

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There's been a lot in the papers about different departmental budgets, not much about the President's own White House.

During the 1952 campaign, Ike used to stand on the rear platform of this special train and tell how, when he was a boy in Kansas, he and his brothers dropped a nickel. It slipped through the cracks of the porch, and they got down on hands and knees to fish it out.

General Eisenhower told the story over and over again—until newsmen know it by heart—as an illustration of how he would save every nickel if elected.

The year that Ike was elected—1952, the last year under Truman—the cost of running the White House was $1,833,000. This year Ike is asking $2,051,000 for servants, gardeners, food, and other housekeeping expenses for the 1953 budget.

The cost of his office has increased even more.

The last year of Truman, the executive office cost $8,166,000. Eisenhower's first year it was $8,725,000. This year, 1957, it is $10,715,000, and for next year the President is asking $12,047,000.

This does not include his two helicopters which are charged to the Defense Department, his private plane which is charged to the Air Force, his military aides and staffs which are charged to the Pentagon, nor his chauffeurs which are charged to the Army. The telegraphers and code room cryptographers were civilians under FDR and Truman but were put under the Army, by Ike. It now takes double the number of Army personnel to do what civilians once did.

Figures on the total White House staff are not available. But it's estimated that the overall figure has about doubled, though this does not show in the budget, because so much personnel is borrowed from other departments.

The White House has grown under each succeeding president so that it now occupies the building which once housed the entire State, War, and Navy Departments, adjacent to the White House. Plans are even under discussion to tear this building down and replace it with a modern office building in order to house the ever-growing White House offices.

They Need Billy Graham

U. S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen, best-informed diplomat we have ever sent to Russia, got only nine minutes with President Eisenhower during his recent stay in the USA. Ike did not seem particularly interested in talking to him about our chief rival.

Barbara Ward, British-born authoress, got 30 minutes. In great detail, she told the President about her recent trip through Africa. The President listened carefully, said nothing until the very end. Then he remarked: "What those people need is Billy Graham."

Postal Go-Round

A Colorado official who waited two months without an answer from Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) has finally learned why Chavez didn't answer his letter. It's probably the greatest postal merry-go-round in Summerfield history.

The state official, Ival V. Goslin, of the Upper Colorado River Commission, had written March 12, asking permission to testify before Chavez' Public Works Committee on a bill to create a Federal Outdoor Recreation Commission.

Two months later, Goslin's badly battered letter finally turned up on the desk of Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.) one minute after Murray had convened the hearing on the Outdoor Recreation Commission bill in his Senate Interior Committee.

Here's what had happened to Goslin's two-month-old letter:

1—It arrived in Chavez' office on March 19, was then forwarded via the Senate post office to Murray, whose Interior Committee had been assigned the bill in which Goslin was interested.

2—By mistake, the Senate post office sent the letter to former Illinois Congressman James C. Murray in Chicago.

3—Realizing the error, the ex-Congressman marked the envelope for return to Senator James E. Murray of Montana at the U. S. Capitol in Washington. But in some mysterious way it wound up in the Montana state capitol in Helena.

4 — The state capitol read-dressed it to the U. S. Capitol in Washington, but by error wrote "Congressman" James E. Murray instead of "Senator."

5—For the second time, the Senate post office in Washington sent the letter to ex-Illinois Congressman Murray in Chicago.

6 — Ex-Congressman Murray again readressed the envelope to Senator Murray in Washington. But for the third time the Senate post office returned it to ex-Congressman Murray in Chicago.

7 — Finally ex-Congressman Murray made sure that the letter would get to the Senator. He placed the letter in a new envelope and addressed it to Senator James E. Murray, Room 111, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Senator Murray finally got it on May 15—two months after it was written, and just one minute after the hearing at which Goslin wanted to testify had begun.

Deflating The Ego

By Brother Barnabas

Now that you have become famous and have been chosen to give the commencement address on "The Time Warp" it falls to me as chairman of the committee on publicity to ask for your picture...

I thank you for the photo. Time certainly has dealt gently with you, for you don't look a day older than ten years ago when we were grads at dear old Dartmouth.

The fact is that it is the same that was taken then. There was no dissembling meant but in similar instances it happens that when a photo is asked for the one that flatters the subject most is the one that is sent.

"Wart And All"

The artist who painted Oliver Cromwell omitted the wart on his nose. He refused it, saying "paint me wart and all."

Ordinarily, however, there is a natural aversion toward any circumstance that deflates the ego.

Not too long ago I was shocked to see a man who has been in the public eye many years, but in all that time his picture has never changed.

An Irish Catholic priest was transferred from one parish to another and one of his former parishioners met one of the new and said: "How do yez like Father Murphy, your new parish priest?"

"Och, he's a foine man entirely, a foine man, indeed, but a trifle bellicose."

To which the questioner replied, "Well, well, is he getting bellicose? Strange to say, when he was our priest he was as thin as a rake handle."

There is a degree of egoism in every one of us, and it is justifiable.

There is pride of appearance, pride of children, pride of achievement, pride of reputation. Nobody admires a slovenly cloth. When June comes old clothes become "old hat" fit for rummage sale as he spruces up with seasonal duds that impart confidence and poise.

On Way Up

The last time I saw "Jim" he was a callow lad tied to his mother's apron strings. Today I received an invitation to his high school commencement. His mother is proud of him. He is on his way up, is six feet tall and weighs 180 pounds, and his ambition is in the right direction.

The Ananias Club is easy to get into but costly to get out of. The other day I was inadvertently strapped and had to borrow a dime for a telephone call. A total stranger loaned me the coin.

An hour later I traipsed back to repay the lady before she had time to enroll me in her Ananias Club. The next time some way-farer asks me for the loan of a dime I will let him have it if I have it and he promises not to spend it for a Martini, even though he be a deacon or an elder!

Have you ever noticed what takes place in a man of average mold and reputation on being elevated to a position of rank and authority?

If in the church he is made a bishop he is invested with a halo that magnifies his self-importance.

If one is advanced in the social swirl or financial status beyond his culture he may be riding for a fall.

An oil-rich Texan was advised that the best way to break into the social swim was to order (1) a Rolls, and (2) a Rembrandt.

A few days later the Texan's wife told him that one of the purchases had arrived. "Which one," asked the Texan, "the Rembrandt, or the Rolls?" Her reply was, "How should I know?"

Brigham Young advised the Eastern visitor: "Don't incur yourself with a large family... take a word, friend, ten or eleven wives are all you need—never go over it."

Every husband knows that one wife at a time is enough, and may be too many.

Too much pride in one's forensic ability may lead one to his Waterloo. A young counsel had carefully prepared his cross-examination of a police witness. It ran thus:

"How far were you, Constable, from the accused man when he first caught sight of you?" "About 15 yards, sir."

"And were you in uniform, and were you wearing police boots?" "That is correct, sir."

"Police boots have big iron hob-nails on the soles, don't they, and make a loud crunching noise on the ground, don't they, officer?" "That is so, sir."

"Then perhaps you will explain how the accused man failed to hear you until you were only 15 yards away from him?" "I was riding my bicycle, sir."

"Keep your ego under control!" advises

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels crushed Allegany High School's Campers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 16-0 and romped off with the city baseball championship for the 1957 season.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation had won the Allegany County Interscholastic League title on Tuesday by swamping Flintstone to the tune of 26-0. In their last two games of the season the Sentinels scored 42 runs by blanking the opposition.

Yesterday's win enabled Fort Hill to avenge its lone defeat of the season, Allegany having won the series opener on May 6 by the score of 7-6. Fort Hill wound up the league campaign with a record of 12 wins, one loss and one tie game. In the city championship race, the Sentinels turned in a 4-1 record, defeating LaSalle twice, 4-1 and 5-2 and split even with Allegany. Last year Fort Hill shared the County League title with LaSalle (13-3) and bagged city honors with a 3-1 record.

Jesse Hurls 1-Hitter

Jesse Markley turned in a one-hit performance in yesterday's game. Allegany's lone single was credited to Richard Marriott. In notching his 6th win against one loss, that by Allegany, Markley mowed down 13 via the strike-out route, to run his total to 85 for the campaign. In his four seasons with the Sentinels, Markley's overall record was 28 wins and five losses while in the league he posted 26 wins against five losses.

Fort Hill larruped the offerings of four Allegany moundsmen for 19 safeties. Ed Weaver led the assault with four for five, including a three-run homer, while Markley and Donnie Lewis garnered three blows each. Markley also hit for the circuit with a mate aboard.

Bob Paye, who started on the mound for the Campers, took the loss, his third against two victories.

Bruce Belts Aggies

Bruce High School lowered the curtain on its county league season with a 17-1 triumph over Flintstone High School's Aggies at Westport.

While Jim Newlon was holding the Aggies to three hits and winding up the season with a 3-0 record, his mates cuffed Flintstone pitching for 18 safeties, including "Pete" Guthrie's three-run homer and two triples and eight RBIs. Paul Iser smacked a triple to two aboard and Bob Ahern and Clyde Beard collected three hits each.

Ted Robinette accounted for two of Flintstone's three hits. Valley Finishes 2nd

Valley High School's Black Knights edged Mt. Savage at the latter place by the score of 6-3 and wound up the campaign in second place with an 8-4 record.

Coach John Meyers' tossers scored the winning run in the final frame when George Lauder singled home Warnick, Grover Fazenbaker, Valley High southpaw, who relieved Preston in the 5th frame, got credit for the win, his sixth against three losses. Johnny Johnson had three hits in three official trips for Valley. Morgan hit a homer for Mt. Savage.

No report on the game was made by the home team.

LaSalle Spills Beal

LaSalle High's Explorers finished the season in fourth place with a 7-7 record by defeating Beal High at Frostburg by the score of 5-3.

Matt Mullaney pitched five innings for LaSalle and got credit for the win. "Chazz" Lines pitched the sixth and seventh innings for the Explorers, Marshall Winters, who was replaced by Dave Richards in the second inning, was tagged with the loss.

Beal failed to provide any details on the game.

Senators Edge Bosox In Ninth

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Jim Lemon's single with two out in the ninth inning scored Herb Plevs from second base to give Washington a 3-2 victory over Boston tonight. Tom Brewer, victim of two unearned runs, lost his fourth decision against six wins, while Truman Cleveland won his second in relief for the Senators.

Shortstop Billy Klaus bobbled Plevs' grounder with two out in the ninth and Whitey Herzog's single moved Plevs to second before Lemon broke up the game with a single to left.

Giants Edge Pirates, 3-2

Mays Hits Safely In 19 Straight

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Willie Mays ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 19 with an eighth inning double, then scored the winning run a few minutes later as the New York Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 tonight.

Mays opened the 8th with his double and advanced to third on Hank Sauer's bunt single as relief pitcher Roy Face fielded the ball but third baseman Gene Freese failed to cover the bag. Fleet-footed Willie scored on Ray Kat's fly but came up with a limp after sliding hard across home plate. He stayed in the game, however.

Al Worthington, who took over from starter Joe Margeroni after the latter was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh, was credited with the victory.

Both Pirate runs came in the fourth. Dee Fondy, who had three hits in three official trips, beat out a slow roller, Roberto Clemente singled to center and Frank Thomas beat out a bunt. Two outs later Freese hit a pop single over the infield, scoring Clemente and Thomas.

Pioneers Defeat
Buckhannon, 1-0

MULLENS, W. Va., May 31 (AP)—Bill Bazemore's double and Gerald Knapp's single gave East Bank a second inning run today and its fourth state high school baseball title with a 1-0 triumph over Buckhannon.

The Pioneers also were titlists in 1941, 1951 and 1952. Today marked their sixth trip into the state tournament's championship game. Buckhannon also lost to East Bank in 1941 by a 6-3 score in the state finals.

Knapp limited Buckhannon to three scattered hits, although the Buccaneers three times had runners as far as third base with two out. Larry West, who went the first two innings, was the losing pitcher.

Bazemore's double in the second bounced off the fieldhouse in center field, 360 feet from the plate. West fanned the next two hitters, but Knapp hung a line single into center to drive in Bazemore.

East Bank left 12 runners on base—two in each frame of the seven-inning contest except the fourth. The Pioneers rattled out hits in each inning except the fourth and seventh.

THIRD ROW—Coach Cavanaugh, Jim Hammond, Jim Paige, Carl Slonaker, Eddie Shoup, Allan Largent, Ronald Long, Wallace Cunningham, scorer, and Charles Jankey, manager. Fort Hill's overall record for the season was 13 wins, one loss and one tie. The Sentinels won city honors with a 3-1 mark and were 12-1-1 in the county league.

Charley Keller To Rejoin Yanks

Marylander Will Serve As Coach

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Charley Keller, former outfielder of the New York Yankees, rejoins the club as a coach Tuesday night in Cleveland. He replaces Randy Gumpert, who has been filling in for Bill Dickey since the latter suffered an attack of nervous exhaustion in spring training.

Gumpert leaves to resume his post as manager of the Yankee farm club in the Class D Nebraska State League, an all-rookie loop which begins operations late in June.

Dickey is recovering at St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., but it will be a while before he can return to active duty.

Keller, 40, played outfield for the Yankees from 1939 through 1949 and, after two seasons with Detroit, returned to the Bombers at the end of the 1952 season for a few weeks. He has been breeding trotting horses at his farm at Middletown, Md., near Frederick.

Charles Town Seeks June 29 to Aug. 10 Dates For Race Meet

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 31 (AP)—William D. Poland, a member of the West Virginia Racing Commission, said today the commission has given tentative approval to the Charles Town Turf Club for racing dates at the half-mile track from June 29 to Aug. 10.

The request for the dates was made by A. J. Boyle, owner with his wife of the track, although he has given a Texas oilman, Clint Murcheson, an option to buy the track for about four million dollars.

The original option to Murcheson was up May 15. At that time, Boyle said the option was extended for 10 days. Last Saturday—the deadline—passed with no announcement of the sale.

Reportedly legal entanglements were holding up the closing of the sale.

Priest Speaks On Origin Of Memorial Day

The origin and meaning of Memorial Day was the theme of the address by Rev. Myles McGowan, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Midland, at the annual program Thursday at the Soldier's Monument in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Father McGowan, who is also chaplain of the 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, National Guard, said the idea of Memorial Day was begun at Columbus, Miss., in order to honor men who made the supreme sacrifice for their country.

All people are beneficiaries of their deeds, Father McGowan said, pointing out that the sacrifices they made constituted true patriotism. Memorial Day, he continued, should remind Americans to be loyal to their country, God and fellow man.

The annual program in Rose Hill was opened with a selection by the Allegany High School Band and invocation by Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, pastor of First Congregational Church at Frostburg. A floral ceremony was conducted by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held a service at the grave of Henry Hart for whom the post is named.

The cemetery program was preceded by a parade of bands and marching units. The route of the parade was from the State Armory on South Centre Street, through downtown streets, out Cumberland Street to Allegany Street and Fayette Street.

Friendly Suit Filed In Circuit Court

A "friendly" suit was docketed in Circuit Court so that the court can decide if there have been sufficient signatures obtained on petitions for a referendum on the $500,000 Urban Bond Issue which the Mayor and City Council wants to issue.

Albert A. Doub filed the suit on behalf of William A. Gunter, a resident and taxpayer, against the Mayor and Council.

Thomas B. Finar, city attorney, filed an answer to the suit along with exhibits of all the signatures on the petitions. The city claims the petitions do not contain sufficient valid signatures to warrant a referendum.

Bloodmobile Visits Listed

The mobile unit from the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Red Cross Blood Center will make two visits to Allegany County next week, with a visit scheduled here Monday and another in Lonaconing the following day.

An appeal for support of the blood program has been made by county Red Cross officials, who pointed out that residents have been receiving benefits under the project although the quota of 150 pints has not been met at any of the recent monthly visits of the bloodmobile.

New donors are especially needed, Red Cross spokesmen said, since the bulk of the blood contributed comes from "regular" donors who can contribute only at specified intervals.

The headquarters for the local visit will be at the home of Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles, while the Lonaconing collection will be made at the home of Alvin C. Neat 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The quota for the Lonaconing visit has been set at 120 pints and residents of the Lonaconing-Barton-Midland area may contribute.

The racoon is one of the very few American mammals that has no living relatives in the Old World.

Church Makes Plans For 35th Anniversary

A committee meeting was held Tuesday night at the Living Stone Church of the Brethren to plan for the 35th anniversary ceremony to be held October 13.

A feature of the celebration will be the symbolic burning of the mortgage representing the payment of the debt on the present church building.

The committee made plans for a booklet in honor of the occasion, and discussed other ideas for the event. Chairman of the committee is James Roby, Miss Janet Ashenfelter, secretary; and members are W. C. Cooper, Nello Caporossi, Jr., Boyd H. Sulser, Mrs. Hettie Kerns, Mrs. Norman Boyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Saville.

The building now occupied by the church was dedicated in November 1920. The final payment was made early this year, but because of the anniversary coming up it was decided to celebrate both events together.

In Scandinavian countries, Christmas begins on Dec. 13, Santa Lucia's Day, and ends Jan. 11.

Market Goes Ahead Under Leadership Of Oils, Steel

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead still further today under the leadership of oils and steel.

Key issues advanced from fractions to around a point or more. There was an assortment of losers in various groups.

Industrials carried the burden of the advance while rails and utilities were pretty well mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 60 cents to $184.30 with the industrials up $1.50, cents the rails up 10 cents the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,111 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 513 to 359. For the first time this week, new 1957 highs were more numerous than new lows, the score being 58 to 33.

Volume totaled 2,050,000 shares compared with 2,270,000 on Wednesday.

Of the 15 most active stocks, 10 rose, 4 fell and one was unchanged. Seven of the top 15 were oils, continuing the recent trend.

Shell Transport & Trading was the most active stock, up 3/4 at 26 1/2 on 35,300 shares. Second was Olin Mathieson, up 1/2 at 55 1/2 on 28,800 shares. Third was Anderson Prichard Oil, off 1/4 at 41 1/2 on 28,600 shares.

Next came Getty Oil, off 1/4 at 36 1/2, and Standard Oil (N.J.) up 1/4 at 64 1/2.

Bethlehem Steel was the most heavily traded of the steels, rising 3/4. U.S. Steel was next, up 1/4. Youngstown Sheet gained 1/4 and Lukens Steel was up 1/4.

DuPont cancelled an early gain of around 2 and showed a net loss of 1/4. Corning Glass, last week's 20-point gainer, dropped 2 1/2. Chrysler eased 1/2. Douglas Aircraft and Boeing were off fractions. Kennecott lost 1/2 while Anaconda rose 1 1/2.

Atlantic Coast Line rose 2 points on news that its long-time president, Champion McD. Davis, was resigning. A big feature on the American Stock Exchange was a rise of 22 points to a close of 141 for Todd shipyards. The firm reported record earnings rising to $18.46 a share compared with $7.07 a year ago.

Other quotations on the American market were generally higher. Volume totaled 920,000 shares compared with 1,000,000 on Wednesday. Gainers included A&P, Creole Petroleum, Brazilian Traction, Standard Oil of Kentucky and Wright-Hargrave.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP) — Grain futures prices firmed around near the previous close most of the time in light dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Buying interest was lacking and it appeared some speculators were taking the long weekend after the holiday yesterday.

Kimble To Head New Md. Job Security Unit

May Qualify For Office Here Today

ANNAPOLIS, May 31 (P)—Gov. McKeldin today named Robert B. Kimble of Cumberland executive director of a reorganized Department of Employment Security which goes into effect tomorrow.

Kimble has served for the past two years as chairman of the three-man Unemployment Security Board, which is being abolished in a new law passed by the 1957 Legislature.

He will be solely responsible for administration of the department, which is financed with federal funds and responsible for administering unemployment benefits.

Previously both administration and appeals were handled by the three-man board.

Names Appeals Board

To separate appeals from administrative functions, the former will be handled by a board of appeals headed by Joseph P. Healy, retired Baltimore industrialist, as chairman.

McKeldin appointed as associate members Carlton E. Pyles, chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission from Temple Hills, Prince Georges County, and David Ross, a Baltimore attorney who is currently a member of the ESB.

The third member of the old board, Charles Borchering of Baltimore, resigned several weeks ago to become director of the Federal Housing Administration for Maryland.

Is $15,000 Job

The salary scales approved by the Standard Salary Board for the new organization provide $15,000 for the executive director, $9,000 for the chairman of the appeals board, and $6,500 each for the two associate members of the board.

Salaries, as well as other costs of operation, are paid by the federal government.

The agency also administers more than 20 million dollars a year in unemployment benefits from a fund to which employers contribute.

Kimble's salary under the old setup was $12,000. The other two board members received $6,500.

May Qualify Saturday

Informed sources said former Senator Kimble plans tomorrow to come to Cumberland where he will take the oath of his new office from Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

It was explained that if Mr. Kimble did not qualify today, the reorganized department would have no authorized head Monday, the first business day.

The appointment will end the speculation which has existed here for several months that Mr. Kimble might resign the ESB post he accepted early in 1955 and seek to regain a seat in the Maryland Senate.

Last December he confirmed that he was being asked to run next year for the Senate post he vacated when he was asked to put the Department of Employment Security on a businesslike basis.

More To Be Quizzed In Morals Case

Several additional men will be questioned in connection with the series of offenses involving two 13-year-old girls, according to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Fourteen young men entered guilty pleas to charges of statutory rape yesterday and two others will receive hearings on the charge next week in Circuit Court.

Four minors involved in the case will be tried in Juvenile Court.

Mr. Fletcher said Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, is checking out reports that several more men were involved.

Woods Fire Checked Along Pinto Road

From two to three acres of woods were scorched yesterday afternoon along the Pinto Road between U. S. Route 220 and Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Approximately 15 volunteer firemen from Cresaptown, armed with Indian pumps and rakes, brought the flames under control although the area was being patrolled early last night. A home in the immediate vicinity was endangered by the spreading flames.

Due to the lack of rain in recent days the ground and leaves in the woodland are very dry, firemen said.

Local 26 Plans Meetings Today

The annual Home Owners meeting of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, will be held today at 7 p. m. in the union hall.

A membership meeting will follow at 7:30 p. m. Business will include reports on Grievances 16 and 17 and a vote on a proposal to amend the by-laws to provide for one meeting a month, instead of the present two.

He was a member of the All Maryland Band two years ago, the All Maryland Chorus one year and this year a member of the All Eastern Chorus at Atlantic City.

Voice will be his major at the university. He has studied piano, voice, clarinet and saxophone.

Man Saves His Partner In Two Ways

Nelson Boyce, 33, of 84 Third Street, Keyser, can be twice thankful that Harry O. Chappell, Island Street, Lonaconing, a fellow electrician, was working with him yesterday morning at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Boyce, Chappell and several other Westvaco electricians were working together on a power line atop one of the plant buildings yesterday morning.

Chappell had climbed down from the tower and was standing on a 12-inch pipe. About that time Boyce apparently came in contact with electrical current, although that was not absolutely certain and went hurtling from the tower. He tumbled into Chappell's arms and was held dangling by one foot. Other electricians helped loosen Boyce but when they got down to a catwalk above the roof it was discovered that he no longer was breathing.

Chappell who first had stymied Boyce's fall, then went to work applying artificial respiration and in about ten minutes Boyce was breathing again. The Lonaconing man had taken a refresher course in artificial respiration sponsored by the plant several years ago.

The injured man was given additional treatment at the plant dispensary and then was removed to the Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser, where his condition was termed "good" last night.

Rep. Devereux Agrees To Seek Governorship

Acknowledges He's Considering Move

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE, May 31 (P)—Rep. Devereux (R-Md) was reported today to have agreed to seek the Republican nomination for governor of Maryland next year.

Devereux, who last January flatly stated he would not run, acknowledged he was considering the move but said he had not made up his mind.

"I have made no decision whatsoever," he said. "Many people have talked with me about it, and, naturally, I've given some thought to it."

"But that's a big decision to make and I have not made it yet."

An informed source said Devereux had recently decided to enter the primary to succeed Republican Gov. McKeldin.

The governor is constitutionally barred from a third term. The Republican leader in a State where his party is outnumbered by Democrats by more than 2-1, he has been trying to whip up enthusiasm for someone to lead the party in 1958.

Devereux, who as a Marine general commanded Wake Island before it fell in the early days of World War II, was among several possibilities mentioned earlier this year. But before anything in the way of a popular demand could be stirred up, he publicly disclaimed any desire or intention to seek the governorship.

Several weeks later McKeldin tried to send up a trial balloon on behalf of Avery W. Hall of Salisbury, former member of the State Roads Commission, but the balloon failed to get off the ground.

The party's State Committee two weeks ago urged would-be candidates to announce their plans soon and begin campaigning.

Democrats who have filed for the nomination include Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and H. C. Byrd, former University of Maryland president who lost to McKeldin in 1954.

Others mentioned as possible candidates were Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro, Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert and State Sen. John Grason Turnbull (D-Balto County).

Another request was for $105,000 for the first phase of a $800,000 survey of the water supply, pollution and silting of the Potomac River from its tributaries to its mouth at Chesapeake Bay.
